FALL SHIPPING SEASON. Open October 1st to 15th and continues until January 1st. The proper time for transplanting nursery stock is at the time when it is dormant, which is during October, November and December in Autumn and February, March and April in Spring. Nursery stock is successfully planted any time during winter months that the soil is not frozen. In freezing weather the roots should be well protected in handling and not exposed to frost.

FALL PLANTING BETTER THAN SPRING. There are several reasons. As a rule most of us have more time to devote to planting at that season of the years and are not rushed with other work as is usually the case in the spring. Stock planted in the fall of course does not start growing until the following spring, however during the winter months the earth gets fully settled around the roots, and they start growing much earlier than they do when planted in the spring. Another reason is that you avoid spring rushes in the nursery. We do all of our orchard planting during the fall and at times that weather is open during winter months.
